

Turner Strategies

Calgary, Alberta, Canada

Description: Turner Strategies is a consulting firm that works with community organizations to enact large-scale social change. All their work is open-source for service providers, researchers, and other interested parties to use.

Specialization: Homelessness Strategic Planning, Community Engagement and Development

Website: www.turnerstrategies.org

SUMMARY

Turner Strategies is a company that partners with community leaders, non-profits, and government organizations to design social change initiatives. They have been involved in creating many of Canada's largest homelessness initiatives and publish resource documents based on what they have learned while engaging in ground-level research and social change.

Past Homelessness Initiatives

Yellowknife Plan to end Homelessness

Medicine Hat Plan to End Homelessness

Kelowna's Strategy to Prevent and End Homelessness

Guides and Research Reports

Functional Zero

- What does it look like when cities have successfully 'ended homelessness'?

System Coordination Framework

- St. John's case study & guide to connecting service providers with coordinated access

Housing First Evaluation

- Comprehensive evaluation of 3 Canadian, provincially funded programs for youth

Planning Guide to End youth Homelessness

- Community planning toolkit detailing engagement strategies, government relations, budgeting, and practice analysis